Van Cleve & Associates Launches New Website!

VC&A, Inc. is pleased to announce that we have released a new, all-inclusive website at www.vcsecurity.com! Our new site will feature all of our product offerings, everything from cameras to consoles, night vision devices, covert recorders, TSCM / NLJD gear, and everything in between. We will be continually updating the site over the coming months with additional product offerings and features, including spec sheets, manuals, and videos, as well as other news and notes about our company and the security industry.

Our new site offers one-stop shopping, allowing you to easily purchase any* of our product offerings, day or night.

The site also features a password-protected section, which contains our covert audio and video products. Access to this site is strictly limited to law enforcement and military personnel. If you would like access to that section please reply to this email or contact VC&A, and we will be happy to provide that for you.

*At the time of this newsletter our site is still under construction and only about 50% complete (though it is currently accessible – check it out here: www.vcsecurity.com). We will be continually adding additional products to the site, as well as other useful tools and features. Please be sure to check back often for new updates!

Other News & Notes

ACTi releases first 10MP Cube Camera

ACTi's new E14 is the first 10MP cube camera on the market! The pre-focused fixed lens offers a 99° FoV, with frame rates up to 7 fps @ 3648 x 2736 and 30 fps @ 1920 x 1080. It also features Basic WDR and 2-Way Audio.

Axis introduces free 3D CAD software download

Axis has released a new tool for SketchUp 3D CAD software, which provides interactive 3D models of cameras to assist in the design of video surveillance systems. The free software allows the user to get a visual representation of how the camera will fit into the building layout, while also allowing them to see viewing angles, which can assist in locating blind spots or obstructed views.
